HARRODSBURG, KY., May 10, 7:30 P. M -The court-room was crowded with spectators to day to hear the opening of the testimony against Phil. Thompson, and great interest was manifested. It was inaugurated by the introduction of witnesses to the killing on the morning of the 27th. This was done successfully and the story of test the suit. the tragedy was graphically given in its awful detail. Davis extending his hand to Thompson, turning when repulsed to struggle with the door to escape his fate, then of $60,000,000. falling dead with a bullet through his brain, were portrayed in all their horror. At 3.12 P. M. the prosecution rested its case. The defense upon the cross examination attempted to prove but unsuccessfully that Davis had made exertions to draw a weapon upon entering the smoking car. A negro named Felix Thompson ewore that he did but his testimony was not corroborated. At 3.15 Judge R. P. Jacob presented the case for the defense. He spoke nearly an hour and although his essay was by no means eloquent, it was a clear presentation of what the defense expects to prove. The defense then intro-duced several unimportant witnesses and the Court adjourned until to-morrow.

A Story of the Melbourne Police.

Some years ago -- a good many more, in fact, than I care to recall now -- I was wandering very disconsolately through one of the main thoroughfares of Melbourne, debating with myself the advisability of walking down to the quay and offering my services as steward to the Captain of the first homeward-bound vessel on which I might see the "bluepeter" hoisted. Things had gone very badly with me; every enterprise to which I had turned my attention had either fallen through or resulted disastrously to myself; and, after vainly trying my luck in the colony for over tripped and fell splendidly. The letter closed with a request that I would call at once on the Superintendent.

Somewhat to my dismay, I found, on presenting myself, that my permanent appointment was conditioned upon my satisfactorily carrying through a special job then on hand. Next day, which was Sunday, I accordingly procured a horse from the station, and, taking my revolver with me, started out to try my luck as a policeman, and about 2 o'clock in the afternoon came near the place mentioned. I left my horse at the nearest roadside "hotel," sauntered to the bridge, and, leaning over the rail with no very distinct notion of how I was going to act, waited for my man with what coolness I could muster. Two hours had passed; the sun was beginning to go down; and I was just preparing to console myself with the notion that the man had got wind of route, when I became aware of the approach of a solitary pedestrian. As he came nearer, I ran over the description of the man I wanted-which I had learned by heart and at once concluded that this was the individual. He was a tall, powerful, uncompromising-looking fellow of about five and forty, muscular enough to have lifted me up and thrown me over the bridge into the shining water beneath. THE CHOICE OF A SADDLE HORSE.

dle is a common source of trouble to those wishing to commence riding. In the United States, at the present time, there is no lack of horses that with careful breaking could be made first-class saddle-horses. The racing stables of America furnish every year a number of horses not good enough to keep on in training, yet excellent for park-hacks safer and far more lasting than commonbred horses. Once, while ed he was traveling in the West, a wealthy lady, at a festival in St. Louis given in his honor, complimented him as a benefactor of his race, and promised to erect monument to his memory. That meorial has never been built. The good man's monument is in the loving hearts that, forty years ago, were his delighted eaders and pupils.

It is well to remind the young of the resent day where his ashes rest. At a ery short distance from the "Goodrich Place," at Southberry, Ct., is a rural graveyard. Here and there, scattered in among the long grass, are mounds, where lie buried the forgotten dead. Now and then some modern shaft tells of those lately mourned, and once in a while some fine monument attracts the visitor's eye.

The only sure remedy yet found is Brown's Iron BITTERS, and this by rapid and thorough assimilation with the blood purifies and enriches it, and rich, strong blood flowing to every pa of the system repairs the wasted tissues, drives our disease and gives health and strength.

This is why Brown's IRON BITTERS will cure kidney and liver diseases, consumption, rheumatism, neuralgia, dyspepsia, malaria, intermittent fevers, &c.

> Mr. Simon Blanchard, a well-Mr. Simon Blanchard, a well-known citizenof Hayesville, Meade county, Kentucky, says: "My wife had been sick for a long time, and her constitution was all broken down and she was unable to work. She was advised to use Brown's Iroa Bitters, and found it to work like charm. We would not now be with out it for any consideration, as we consider it the best tonic in the world,"

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS is not a drink and does no contain whiskey. It is the only preparation of Iron that causes no injurious offects. Get the genuine. Don't be imposed on with imitations.
